

Ready to Engage Globally?

The Center for Global Engagement (CGE) works with all the schools on campus to help students find ways to connect with global ideas and experiences, both in Baltimore and globally. Our campus is rich with international students and scholars; faculty engaged in research and service with global partners; and classes, activities, and clinics that will link you to the world.

Below are five ways students and scholars can engage globally at UMB:

CGE NEWSLETTER

A monthly round-up of global news and events for the UMB community. Sign up so you won't miss any programs here and abroad.

GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES

Join the conversation program, which offers participants a virtual one-hour, facilitated weekly conversation to explore common interests and discuss concerns about U.S. academic and social life. Facilitator applications are due Sept. 16 and participant applications are due Oct. 6.

PRESIDENT'S STUDENT LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

Register for the President's Student Leadership Institute's Global Leadership specialization. Topics covered this year included working with translators, global health, ethical global engagement, and leading during an emergency.

GLOBAL TRAVEL

International travel for students is back! Visit Student International Travel on the new UMB Global Hub, then follow the Steps for International Travel to book and prepare for travel.
